Odor problem studied

The second phase of the airport expansion has been approved by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, reported Commissioner Milt Mack. "A permanent solution to the airport odor problem was part of this decision," he said. "A $15,000 treatability study has been approved by the Commission. Further efforts are definitely being made to permanently correct the odor problem. This is not a quick fix solution and ultimately the odor problem will be eliminated," promised Mack. The long term policy includes dredging of the airport retention ponds and drain improvement, all at the expense of the airport, according to Mack.

"This is not a quick fix solution."

"I'm confident the odor problem will be solved with a permanent solution. The problem should not develop again," he said.

"The airport has drained the ponds. They were authorized to discharge the water by this department," explained Catherine Morse, Department of Natural Resources, water specialist.

"The analysis of data from the sludge samples in the ponds showed no evidence of a toxic problem. I understand the ponds will be dredged this month. The DNR has approved the dispersal of dredged material on the airport site," she said.

The odor problem occurs from decomposed vegetation on the bottom of the retention ponds. The ponds are used to retain runoff from ethylene glycol, an antifreeze used to wash down aircraft and prevent icing.

Police contract negotiations stalled

With contract negotiations at a standstill between the city of Romulus and the Police Officers Association, the Michigan Department of Labor has been called in to settle the disputed contract.

"The union has filed for arbitration with the American Arbitrators Association," said Romulus Police Chief Charles Wilmoth.

One arbitrator will be selected from a panel of three chosen by the Michigan Employment Relations Commission, according to Marilyn Radford, personnel director. "The city will cross off one name and the union for the police officers will cross off another. The name which remains will arbitrate the final sessions between two," said Radford.

"The decision made by the arbitrator is binding on both sides. Because of Act 312, police and fire officials cannot legally strike. Arbitration is the only avenue we have to settle this dispute. As department head, I am part of the negotiating process. All the union is asking is wages at the market rate," explained Wilmoth.

"There are about six outstanding issues that need to be addressed by the arbitrator," noted Radford who did not specify which issues. "Two years ago, the last time the contract was to be ratified, there were 18 outstanding issues. The selection of arbitrator should be made soon," she said.

Negotiations for this four-year contract began in May. The 41 person police department has operated without a contract since June 31.

"Romulus police officers are underpaid in terms of comparable wages in surrounding communities," noted Jim Akhtar, the city retained attorney for contract negotiation earlier this year.

"Our offer is more than fair," responded Mayor Beverly McAnally.

Doorstop robber nabbed following citizen tip

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus police acted on a tip from two alert young residents and arrested a man believed to be a "major suspect" in a recent series of armed robberies near northeast Romulus.

Local news media have dubbed the perpetrator of these crimes, the "doorstop robber."

"Vernard Parker, 32, of Woodhaven was arrested Friday afternoon by Romulus Police in the general proximity of the problem area on Henry Ruff Road south of Beverly Road. Police were alerted by citizens from the area.

The responding officers located the suspect who was walking. No breaking and entering of homes in that area was reported that afternoon," reported Lieutenant Ken Kraus of the Romulus Police Detective Bureau.

"He was arraigned in Wayne County Circuit Court and charged with carrying a concealed weapon and sits in Wayne County Jail pending a preliminary examination scheduled for Oct. 1. He does have a previous arrest record," Kraus said.

"I don't know where it came from but somebody dubbed him the 'doorstop robber.' As I see it, the similarity of five armed robberies attributes them to the same individual," he said.

"Three to four have been reported in Romulus," added Kraus. Westland police responded to at least two other similar incidents in the same general vicinity near Van Born and Merriman roads.

Police acted on a tip they received from a Romulus resident who noticed the suspect in his driveway when the family dogs alerted him to the presence of someone near his Merriman Road home.

"Some guy was walking down the driveway away from the house. He looked around, saw us and walked back toward the house," recalled the witness about the 2 p.m. Friday incident.

"We were paranoid. Everybody in the neighborhood had been keeping their eyes open. My friend knew immediately when he saw this 6-foot tall, black guy. The description was really similar to what he read in the local paper. He wore a hooded sweatshirt with a red bandana in his pocket. We said this has to be the guy. He carried an anti-freeze bottle as if he wanted water. Strange he would walk all this way down Merriman from Henry Ruff for water," said the 18-year old resident.

"We've had wierdos come to the door before. So we grabbed a shotgun and a bow. I think he got nervous. By this time, he turned around and headed back to Henry Ruff. We knew because the dogs outside barked," explained the witness.

"I called my mother who lives on Henry Ruff and told her if he walked by that way to call us. He did. And we called the police. They were there in five minutes.

"The detective flashed this big old knife the guy had in his pant leg. It was 12 inches long with a 6-inch handle," he said.

"Police security in this area has gotten pretty heavy. They're doing their job and it makes you feel good," he said.

"We want citizens in this area to know that this guy who some people have called the 'doorstop robber' is a major suspect in these armed robberies. Maybe residents can breathe a little easier," said Sgt. David Early of the Romulus Police Department.

Alice Opificius

Down the unpaved portion of Merriman Road in southeast Romulus, in a century-old, weathered farm house which resembles something from the Swiss Alps, lives Alice Opificius.

But not for long.

As soon as builders finish construction on the new senior citizen highrise on Belleville Lake, the 73-year-old widow will vacate the house she has called home since she crossed the doorstep 55 years ago, two days after becoming a bride at the age of 18. She will relocate into a fifth floor one-bedroom apartment "with no porch or balcony," she quickly added.

Opificius does realize some concessions must be made. But for the first time in her life, after she moves to Belleville, Alice Opificius will experience her own indoor plumbing.

In the middle of the yard and a few feet from the back porch, a coffee cup dangles from a rusty hand water pump. An old outhouse also stands adjacent to the back porch. For most people this reminiscence of days gone by. For Alice, it is life today.

"This water is great. It's never been tested and nobody has ever been sick. There's nothing like this well water. It tastes good," she stressed as she handed a visitor a cup of clear well water, purified through a cotton cloth bag.

Visitors and relatives who spent the night were allowed to use the porcelain potty so they didn't have to go outside. In years past pages were cut from (See NEIGHBORS, page 3-A R)

news in brief

MAYOR BEVERLY McANALLY was voted by members of the Romulus City Council to represent the city at the National League of Cities Annual Congress of Cities, Nov. 29 to Dec. 3 in San Antonio, Texas. Councilman Noah Bergeron was selected the alternate delegate.

"HELP OUR YOUTH SOAR Like Eagles," is the motto of the Romulus Youth Assistance Program. "Our goal is help youth before they get into trouble," said program director, Margaret Leduc.

The program will host an open house on Oct. 1, from 3 to 7 p.m. in Fire Station 4, 28777 Eureka Road in Romulus. "This will allow the community to learn more about the program in general," said Leduc.

At 5 p.m., Gladys Barsamian, presiding Judge of the Youth Court will lead a distinguished list of speakers including Mayor Beverly McAnally, Police Chief Charles Wilmoth, Dr. William Bedell, school superintendent and Mr. Shelly of the Romulus Help Center.

A DOMESTIC SITUATION that blew out of proportion on Friday afternoon left one woman bewildered and her alleged ex-boyfriend arrested and charged with two counts of felonious assault and two counts of a felony with a firearm.

Raymond Eugene Jones, 52, of Romulus was arrested in the area of Inkster and Goddard roads in Romulus before 6 p.m. on Friday after police responded to a call that he allegedly fired a shot into his ex-girlfriend's car. The suspect has been arraigned on $5,000 bond and is in Wayne County Jail pending a preliminary examination, as reported by police.

ROMULUS COUNCIL FOR THE ARTS joined the Downriver Council for the Arts. "They should do a lot to help us," noted a representative of the council.

THE 30 PERCENT WAGE INCREASE for non-union city employees announced earlier this month applies only to 30 percent of the wage increase recommended by the Michigan Civil Service Commission and the completed Salary and Job Description Study recently adopted by members of the city council.

The increase recommended by the study would be dispersed over a three-year period and bring non-union employees up to the wage levels of the surrounding communities by the end of that period. Council voted for only the first year recommendation. Only 30 percent of that total amount would be allocated in the first year, according to the vote by members of the city council.

A FILM SERIES entitled "Ordering Your Private World," by Gordon MacDonald who will help individuals "Find the missing 'piece' to the 'peace' you're missing," will be hosted by Calvary Baptist Church on Ozga and Porter roads in Romulus. The six week series begins this Sunday through Nov. 2. The one-hour program begins at 6 p.m.

THE ROMULUS FLYERS announces the Homecoming of the Junior Football League this Saturday at the Junior High School. The freshman will tackle their game at 4 p.m. followed by the junior varsity at 5:30 p.m. Flowers will be presented to the mothers in attendance.

THE HURON APPLE FEST begins next weekend Oct. 3, 4 and 5 in New Boston. The 7th annual event will include a bed race, one-mile fun run, canoe races, apple recipe contest and much more.

the Sears catalogue and used instead of toilet paper.

Today, the old grey farmhouse peeks through a small grove of tall pine trees. Splashes of color provided by impatiens and other flowers border the house and hang on the porch from the remnants of Victorian gingerbread. Not a trace of paint lingers on any of the worn farm buildings and hardly a shingle remains on an ancient barn which definitely tilts westward. Hand-stitched linen and stockings hang from a line on the porch to dry. The picturesque setting provides a typical portrait of old-time Romulus in rural America.

But something is slightly awry. Amidst all this tranquility and behind the old barn are trenches and mounds of dirt. A brand new aluminum wall houses a 50-stall horse and riding stable: evidence of renewed prosperity from the new owners, Carol and Brace Pentoney.

"I guess they're my new landlords. I never wanted to live in the city but now I have to," conceded Opificius who was born on a farm less than a mile away.

"This place had just gotten to be too much work for my daughter and son-in-law to care for. Taxes were killing me. At $3,000 per year, they had been rising a couple hundred dollars every year since Romulus became a city in 1970," said Opificius who has lived alone on the 20-acre farm since her husband died eight years ago.

Pentoney practices dentistry and lives with his wife and son, Kevin, 12, in Trenton. "I've boarded my horses and ridden the roads in this area for 18 years. I wanted to be on the other end of the business. We've always lived in the city but loved animals," he said.

The new business will be called "Willow Tree Stables." "There aren't any willow trees here but we're going to plant some," added Carol.

Last Sunday, many local residents and several relatives bid farewell to their longtime friend and neighbor and welcomed the newcomers. The community gathering came as a surprise to Alice whose eyes watered more than once during afternoon celebration.

Several tasty homecooked dishes prepared by the local women recalled the days of an old-fashioned barn raising. For after everybody sampled the bountiful harvest and its endless array, the men returned to assist their new neighbor. The task on hand was installation of fence posts.

"These are all your neighbors as well as mine," she told the Pentoneys.

"I'm glad she sold it to them," said Charlie Peceseny, 22, one of Alice's 10 grandchildren and Charles' namesake. On Monday, he started a new job as fireman with Metropolitan Airport.

Alice and Charles raised three children here: the oldest, Clayton lives in Grand Marais, Minn.; the oldest daughter, Shirley, known as Annie, Peceseny lives with her husband, Bob, four houses away, and Lois Keith who resides in Mexico, Miss.

The new friends and neighbors sat and talked. Many stories from the past emerged.

"Both our families were German. Charles and his brothers bought this place in 1923.

Together with some other property on Merriman they farmed 50 acres until 1941. He farmed all his life and trucked vegetables first to the Western Market in Detroit and later to the Eastern Market until he died at 80 years old. We never had a honeymoon because he always worked. We lived like every other farm family around here. I worked in the fields and so did my kids," Alice said.

"My husband didn't like to go anywhere. When he ate, he would say, 'It's still better with your feet crossed under your own table.' Now I don't even cook at all," she said with a sweep of her hands. "This is the first year I didn't can pickles. Everybody asks, 'Whose going to make our pickles now?'" she said.

The most memorable event in Alice's life occurred in 1935 when 13 family members contracted trichinosis and her parents died. "They bought a pig and had it processed into sausage. Many were in the hospital and I tended the one that weren't," she said.

Even though "part of the floor goes this and part goes that way, I'm know I'm going to miss this place. I dread the day I have to leave," she conceded.

"I don't often get lonesome and I've never been afraid to be alone. I spend my time watching television and bumming. When I get bogged down, I just get in my car and take off. Thank God my car runs," she said of the 1968 blue Chevrolet Impala, dropped off brand new a Christmas gift from her brother with a big red bow.

"We handled it like gold because we wanted it to last and last. It runs good. They just better have a parking space for me in Belleville.

"These are the best neighbors I could ever have," she added with a smile and a tear.

Owner gets surprise

The Sept. 3 issue of the Romulus Roman reported that Michael Lytle leased business property on Willis Road in Sumpter Township for "at least two years."

This announcement came a quite a shock to Jean Chudzinski, who claims to be the owner of the property.

Chudzinski further explained that she had never spoken to a reporter regarding this matter. According to Chudzinski, Lytle has only leased space in the Willis Road property for six to eight months. She added that she had no prior knowledge of Lytle's alleged criminal background.

Falling back

Falling back is what a lot of area residents are doing these days with the first days of the autumn season just behind us.

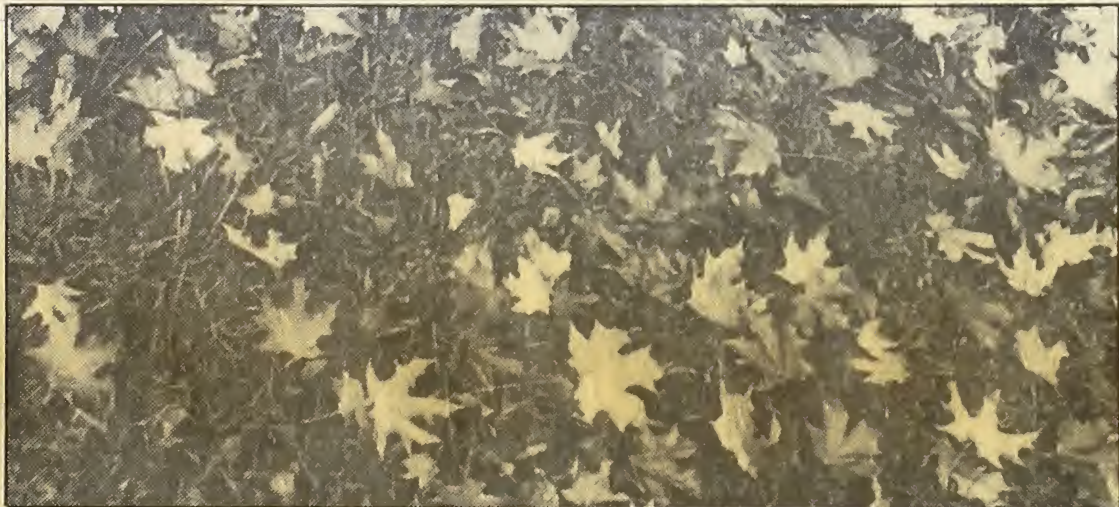

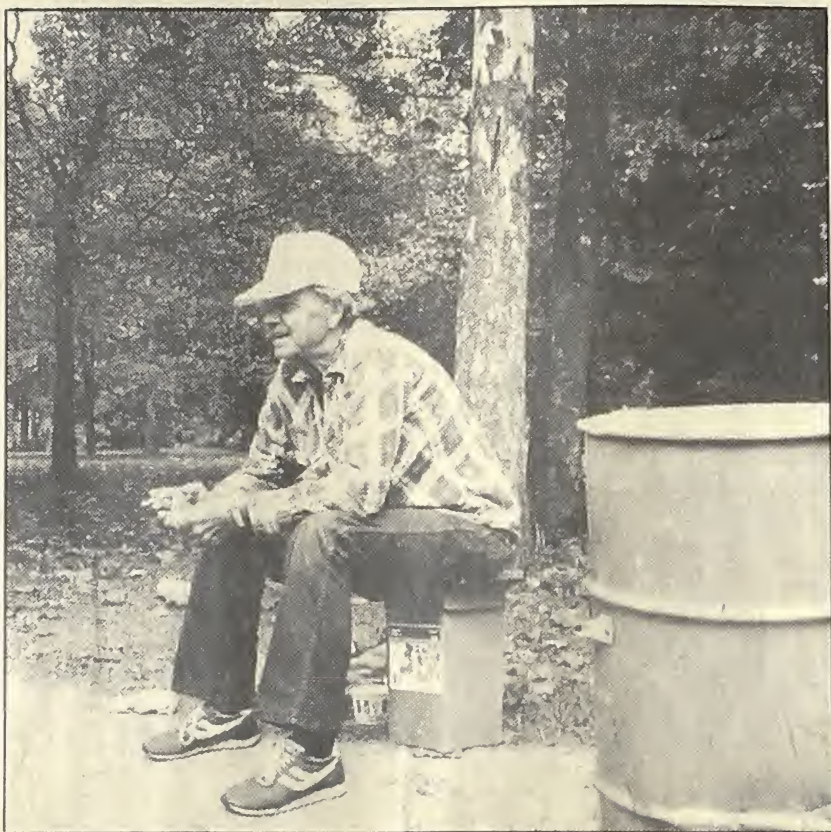

The summery sounds of children splashing in pools and the warmth of the summer air have since been replaced by the rustle of falling leaves, the quiet howl of a pre-winter wind and the moan from residents who begrudgingly herald the season.

Many local residents have already been spotted doing last-minute paint jobs and securing the house for another white winter. And although the local greenery boasts only a hint of fall colors, a few finicky souls have been spotted hauling out the rakes.

But even the most skeptical of the new season should remember that the brush of the leaves and wisk of the autumn wind comes just before another season, one which is an even more unwelcome time of the year.

Beard blasting Lucas' spending

By BOB DENYS
ANP Staff Writer

"Wayne County employees do work on Mr. Lucas' campaign," emphasized Mike Conway, spokesperson for William Lucas, Wayne County Executive and Republican gubernatorial candidate this November.

Lucas has been asked by the Wayne County Commission Ways and Means Committee "to stop using paid employees in his campaign for governor."

Last week, the committee "sent Lucas a letter pointing out that salaries of the deputies are charged to the sheriff's department budget. It is also our understanding that other county-paid employees perform functions in your campaign for Governor," the letter said.

"We have been very careful not to violate the rules," said Conway. "When county staff people have worked on Mr. Lucas' campaign, it has been on their own time whether it be afternoons or weekends."

Kay Beard, a member of the committee who along with Chairman Clarence Young, vice-chairman Freddie Burton, Jackie Currie and William Suzore, also wants Lucas to "reimburse the citizens of this county for expenditures" they consider inappropriate.

Particularly in question are "some of his security detail, six deputy sheriffs used during travel and at gubernatorial campaign appearances," according to the committee.

"I asked Frank Wilkerson point blank," stated Beard, "and he admitted that six deputies are assigned to Lucas. Governor Blanchard does not have such a large entourage. This committee does not think the people of the county should pay for the Lucas campaign or anyone running for political office," she stressed.

"Lucas should not be traveling at county expense. He has a campaign account and he should reimburse the county for these past expenses," said Beard who has eight years tenure on the Wayne County Board of Commissioners representing the western Wayne County communities of Garden City, Westland and Inkster.

The county Charter, according to Beard, delegates the authority to the commission to request information or issue a subpoena if necessary. "This is a legal and moral question here," noted Beard.

The committee has requested details from Lucas, including: an account of time records for all executive office staff personnel since he announced his candidacy for governor; a plan to ensure that any inappropriate use of county-paid personnel will cease, and a plan to reimburse the county for any inappropriate expenditures.

CREDIT UNION EMPLOYEE SOLVES PROBLEM - CEO DOESN'T RESPOND !! Dear Letter Writer:

I had a very embarrassing experience with my company checking account at my credit union. The problem has already been solved, but I want to write to the chief executive officer of the credit union and tell him what happened.

Sincerely, LE

Dear CEO:

I am writing to you to express my frustration with regard to a Sept. 27, 1985, incident at your credit union, an incident that resulted in extreme embarrassment and harassment to myself, my time and my reputation.

When you review my account, you will clearly see how ludicrous this situation

was. A $1 past due amount on my cash reserve (notice mailed to the wrong address by the credit union), resulted in my checking account being frozen -- so frozen that I was unable to make a deposit. This freeze came to my attention when one of my employees returned from trying to make a deposit and, in a manner, expressing her embarrassment for my dilemma, informed me . . . the credit union won't take your money. You have to call someone in the loan department.

DD, an employee that should be noticed, solved my problem. She immediately realized my dilemma and jumped right in to help me. Within a matter of minutes, she reflagged my account. She was courteous, responsive and should be viewed as a very valuable employee.

On or about the first of August, 1985, I transferred my checking account from a local bank to your credit union. I attached my cash reserve to my checking account to prevent this type of problem.

I understand that computers are an integral part of our lives but, at some point, somebody has to put some checks and double-checks into the system. As an owner of the credit union, for me to have been put to this type of difficulty is absolutely ridiculous, especially because the amount in question was $1 and the late notice was sent to the wrong address.

There is presently a flag on my account which reads, unless loans are current, member must see Adj. to transact. By this letter, I demand the flag be immediately removed from my account. I, also, demand immediate written assurance that this ridiculous delinquency is not reflected on my TRW.

I wait your telephone call or letter by return mail.

Sincerely, LE

RESOLUTION:

The flag was removed, however, LE never received any type of response from the CEO.

Your responses to my column are appreciated. Keep in touch with me at 42245 Ann Arbor Road, PMC Center, Suite 109LL, Plymouth, MI 48170 or 455-8892.

dan's dogs

Out of the dozens of phone calls we receive on how to stop a dog from barking, we'll get one from someone whose dog doesn't bark. There are a number of reasons for this.

You'll find there are more dogs who are energetic than those who were calm and easy-going from the day you brought it home. Those who are energetic love to move about and see everything. They'll be more likely to bark at everything

than his quieter litter mate. The more low-key dog will start off barking at all the new sights and sounds but eventually, after becoming familiar with the day-to-day routine of mailman, children playing, etc., will simply relax, and no longer bark at every single noise or person in the vicinity.

People become anxious when their dog doesn't bark all the time, but their anxiety is unfounded because, remember, I said the dog didn't bark at familiar noises.

Should someone approach the front door who is a complete stranger, have no fear, your dog will bark. When your dog barks at a person to alert you of their arrival, don't forget to praise the dog for a job well done.

This is another reason for letting your dog have freedom throughout the house. Should an experienced thief really want to rob your home, he'll check it out first before breaking in. If he hears a dog inside the house, that alone will deter him only if he cannot pinpoint which room the dog is in. If the robber realizes the dog is confined to one room only, he'll take the chance of breaking in.

Knowing the dog is locked in one room, the thief will have the safety and freedom to rob the rooms of the hour to which the dog does not have access.

So, have faith in your dog. He'll alert you to strangers and provide more protection than you may realize.

County of Wayne COMBINED NOTIFICATION FOR: NOTICE OF FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT IMPACT ON THE ENVIRONMENT AND NOTICE OF INTENT TO REQUEST RELEASE OF FUNDS

County of Wayne, 728 Woodward Avenue, Detroit, Michigan 48226 TO ALL INTERESTED AGENCIES, GROUPS AND PERSONS: On or about Oct. 13, 1986, the above named County will request the U.S. Department of Housing & Urban Development to release federal funds under Title I of the Housing & Community Development Act of 1974 (PL 93-383) for the following project(s) accordingly:

- PROJECT: Paving of Wahrman Road, and improvement of storm water drainage.
LOCATION: City of Romulus. Wahrman Road between Eureka on Pennsylvania.
PURPOSE: To provide an Industrial area for private sector full time Industrial jobs.
COST: $86,000 in Community Development Block Grant Funds, $383,000 in Economic Development Administration funds and $400,000 in Michigan Dept. of Transportation funds.
- It has been determined that such request for release of funds will not constitute an action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment and, accordingly, the County of Wayne has decided not to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (PL 91-190). The reasons for such decision not to prepare such a statement are as follows:

No negative impact on community.

An Environmental Review Record respecting the above project has been made by the County of Wayne which documents the environmental review of the project and more fully sets forth the reasons why such Statement is not required. This Environmental Review Record is on file at the above address and is available for public examination and copying, upon request, at the office of Dept. of Community Development, 11111 Wayne Rd., Romulus, Mich 48174, between the hours of 9 A.M. to 5 P.M., Monday through Friday. No further environmental review of such project is proposed to be conducted, prior to the request for release of Federal Funds.

All interested agencies, groups and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments for consideration by the County of Wayne to the office of the undersigned. Such written comments should be received at 2211 East Jefferson, Detroit, Michigan 48207, on or before Oct. 9, 1986. All such comments so received will be considered and the City will not request the release of Federal Funds or take administrative action on the within project prior to the date specified in the preceding sentence.

- CERTIFICATION: The County of Wayne will undertake the project described above with Block Grant Funds from the U.S. Department of Housing & Urban Development (HUD) under Title I of the Housing & Urban Development Act of 1974. The County of Wayne is certifying to HUD that the County of Wayne and Executive William L. Lucas, in his capacity as County Executive, consent to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal Courts and if an action is brought to enforce responsibilities in relation to environmental reviews, decision-making, and action, and that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification is that upon its approval, the County of Wayne may use the Block Grant funds, and HUD will have satisfied its responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969. HUD will accept an objection to its approval of the release of funds and acceptance of the certification only if it is on one of the following basis:

- That the certification was not in fact executed by the Chief Executive Officer of the applicant; or
- That the applicant's environmental review record for the project indicates omission of a required decision, finding or step applicable to the project in the environmental review process.

Objections must be prepared and submitted in accordance with the required procedure (24CFR Part 58), and may be addressed to HUD at: 15th Floor, McNamara Building, 477 Michigan Avenue, Detroit, Michigan 48226. Objections to the release of funds on the basis other than those stated above will not be considered by HUD. No objection received after Oct. 28, 1986 will be considered by HUD.

Whose rights are they?

We're ready to fight. And believe it or not, we are not taking on the battle and all the risks it involves for our own protection. We are doing it for our children, our families, but most of all, for you.

The battle looming is one that will probably not seem very important to most local residents. It may not even get too much publicity in the daily papers or on the television news...but somehow we doubt that. The battle that is brewing concerns the shield law which protects newspaper sources and guards their right to confidentiality.

How could that possibly affect our local residents? After all, we are a smaller, weekly newspaper--we have to the best of our recollection never had cause to utilize the protections afforded in the shield laws, so why the importance here? Because the magnitude of this issue impacts on all of us--as a state and as a nation.

We have mentioned before on these pages the serious threat to a free press emerging insidiously across the country. And this is no more than another attempt to usurp the freedoms of our nation and violate some of the basics tenets of the Constitution by which we allegedly live.

Take a look. There are very few medium-sized or independent television stations left, they have all been swallowed by major corporations--major corporations who control major media outlets in not one or two but nearly every state. The major news agencies, both newspaper and broadcast are now in the hands of fewer and fewer men. These few men are the ones who actually control the news and the way you receive it--and should they collectively or independently decide there is something you should not know, they have the power to control exactly what you will or will not see on television, hear on the radio or read in your daily newspapers. Their concern is the bottom line.

Think, we beg you, of the Joint Operating Agreement proposed by the Detroit Free Press and the Detroit News. Perhaps you get one or both those newspapers now, and you subscribe for specific reasons. The most common reason is the editorial content and viewpoint of that publication--it's style if you will. There is something about that paper you like and something that meets your needs. When both papers are under the same management with the same editorial and business philosophy, will that remain true? The management and corporate heads at both publications claim that the editorial philosophies will continue to differ and that separate staffs will ensure separate viewpoints. Can that be true when both are owned and managed by the same people with the same business aims? We think not.

from DeWitt, Mich., has allegedly formulated a plan to equalize the shield law. House Bill 5576 which was approved in the state House provides for the extension of the shield law to broadcast media who were previously exempt from such protection. Cropsey, chairman of the prestigious Senate Judiciary Committee has stated that he feels the means of providing equity in the matter is to remove the protection from everyone, thus negating one of the basic freedoms of the press.

Does Cropsey realize that this is America? Yes, indeed, that's why he thinks he can get away with it. He is counting on the apathy of the American people and particularly those in Michigan to allow the approval of this atrocious and malicious regulation.

Cropsey's strategy, it has been reported, is to delay any action until after the November election, thus avoiding the increased public interest in the antics of elected representatives which is rampant at that time. He is looking to find a quiet time to urge the alteration of the Bill in the Senate prior to passage there.

We haven't used the shield law--but many other newspapers have, and they have used it judiciously, ethically and prudently in an effort to make public the information that belongs to you.

The press should have no more rights than you have. The information we can find and print is only that to which you, too, have access--the difference is that we exercise those rights on your behalf. That's our job, to serve you and provide you with the information you do not have time to go and get for yourself.

This isn't our news...and this shield law isn't really the sole domain of the press, but rather a tool which we use and need to find the information that could otherwise be kept from you. Information that belongs to you.

If Cropsey has his way, he will steal this right from you. Please, don't let him do it, to any of us.

To voice your objections to any alteration of the shield law as approved by the House of Representatives, write to your State Senator. Oppose the alteration of HB 5576 and express your concern about the eroding freedoms of the press.

My friend, the king

I knew he was doing battle with cancer, but I was not aware of just how serious his physical condition was. I had been thinking of him fondly, however, and had written a column some time ago about him titled "Herb's style" dedicated to my old and dear friend Herb Styles.

More really than a friend, Herb was a man I looked up to and admired. He was also the kind of businessman I wanted to be, and I find myself thinking about all the things this man said and did that stuck with me during the years and made an impression on me while I was growing up.

I've learned most of what I know about Herb's biography from friends, acquaintances and family members, particularly my dad. Dad is the one who told me that Herb was the production manager for Lee Beard back in the mids 30s, at the "Detroit Westward" a neighborhood newspaper Beard published in Detroit.

It was my father, Wes, who handled the advertising at the same paper and Ray Clift, the man who later brought my dad into Associated Newspapers, who was the sports writer there.

Through the years the three of them, Herb, Wes and Ray broke bread, laughed, argued and helped each other through the trying times of life--both professional and personal. They epitomized the definition of the word friendship. The relationship between the three of them ran deep, indeed.

Herb moved up in the business world and eventually owned Post Printing, Kramer and Abbe Press, known in the trade as PAK. He became, in his heyday, the king of typesetting and printing for community newspapers in Detroit and suburbs. Most everyone did business with Herb. He was fair, he was tough when he had to be, and he was always respected. Quality at an affordable price was his credo.

While many considered him a king, Herb served a king of his own, Jesus Christ. Herb made no secret of his convictions and his frequent sermonettes to friends and foes alike were part of his charm and mystique. His impromptu talks on God and Christianity were often commented about, but his sincerity and pure goodness precluded any thought of ridicule or criticism.

It was the Tuesday following Labor Day when Don Styles reached my wife to tell me of his father's death. I was heading out the door for the Wayne Rotary meeting when Susan caught me. With her usual efficiency, she handed me a note about Herb and attached was a funeral home ad, detailing the address.

After recovering from the initial shock of the news, I glanced at the time of the funeral written on the note and at my watch, and knew I had to go. Tears welled up inside me as my mind raced back through the years. I've heard that before you die your life passes before you. As I pondered my feeling of loss, all that I know of Herb raced through my consciousness. Irony, somehow, that he would be laid to rest on our production day, a man who knew more about production than nearly anyone I've ever known.

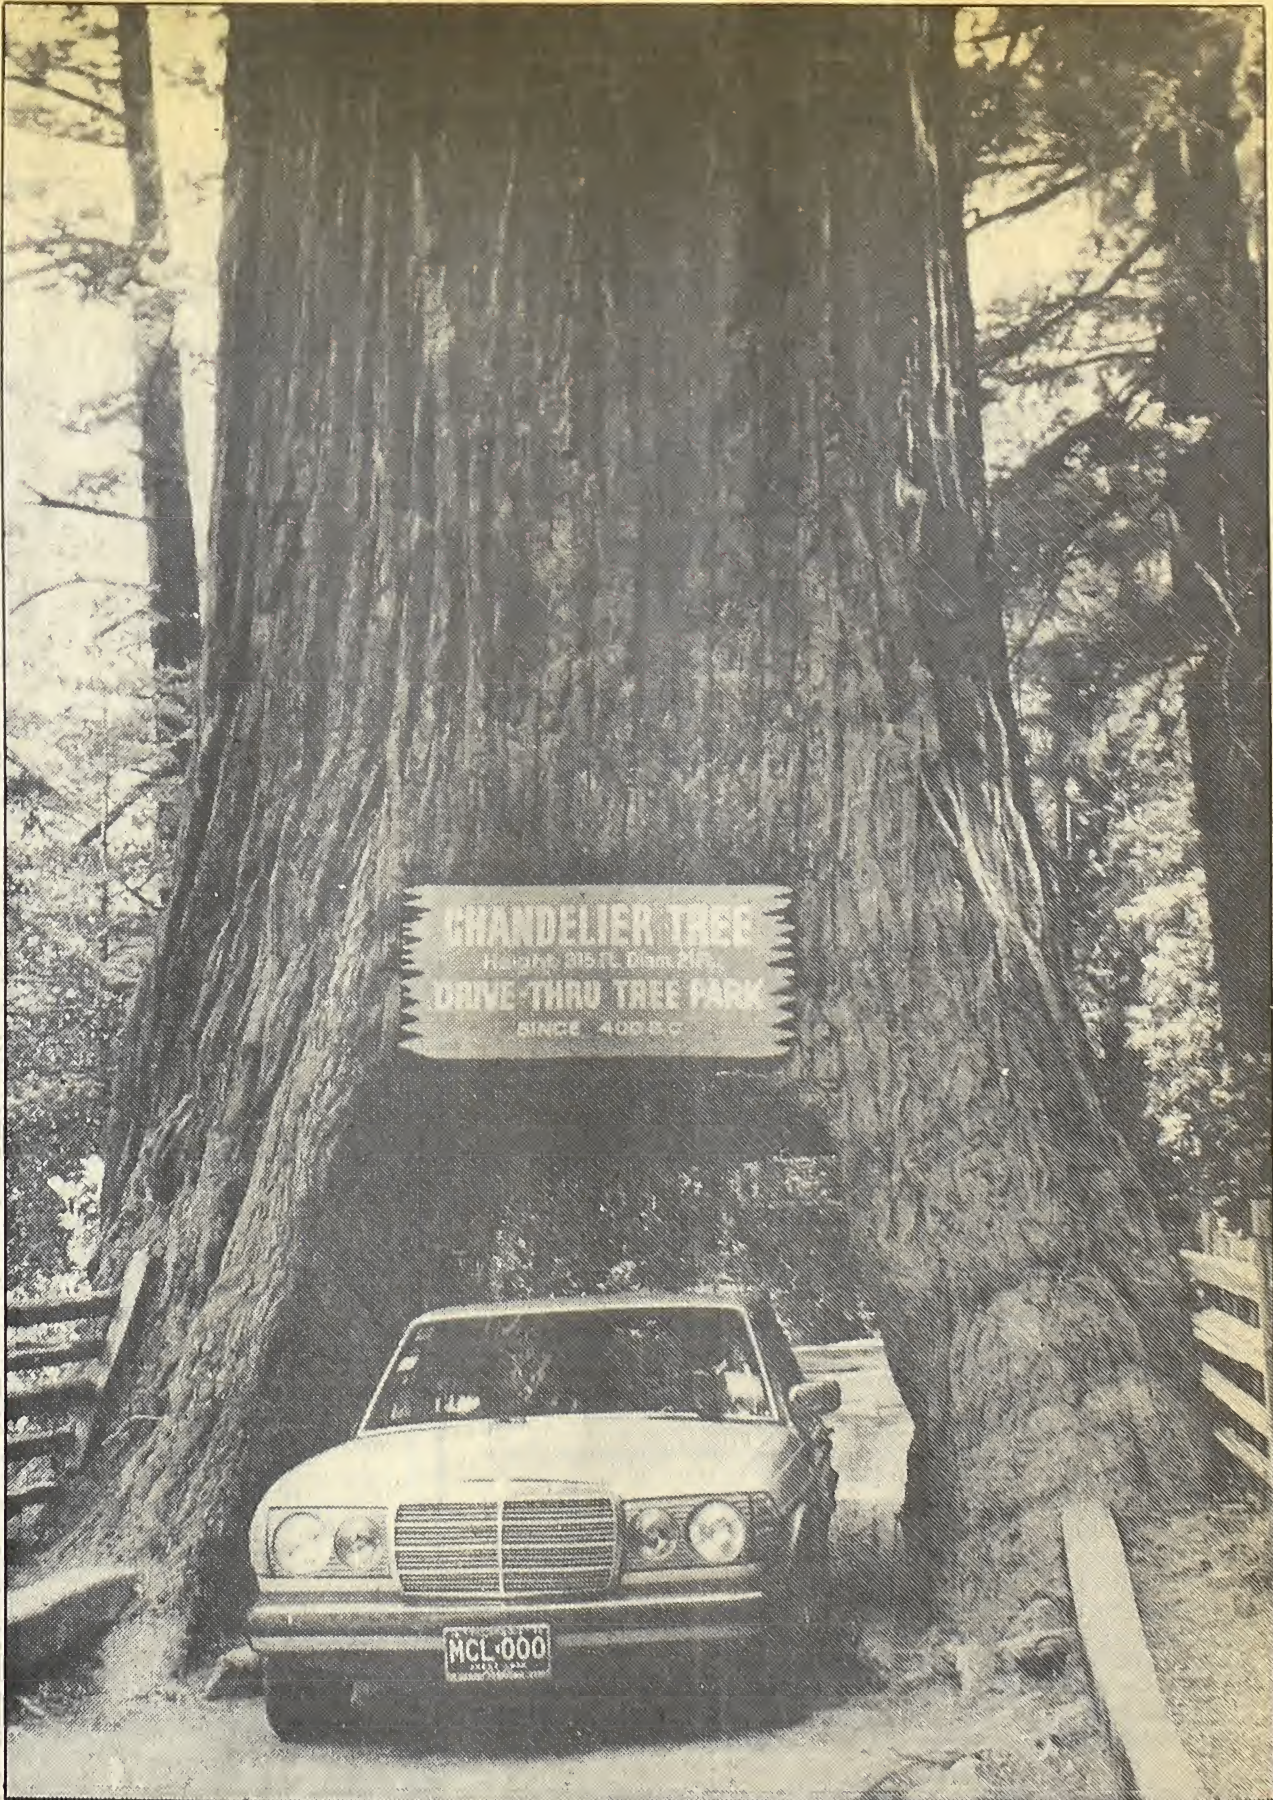

As I walked into the funeral home, Don was composed and in control, as he always seems to be, no matter how great the strain. Herb had been on a hopelessly debilitating downward spiral and death came as a blessing to those who loved him. Herb's battle for life was futile, as were any efforts to aid his suffering.

Marion, Herb's wife was obviously glad to see me. Don's mother had succumbed to cancer and Herb and Marion had married late in life.

Herb died secure in the knowledge that Don and his family will be financially secure.

Willett gets praise

To The Editor:

Today's article on page 5A, Flying Solo, To your good health by David J. Willett, was SUPERB! To alert people to the fact that health is a birth-right and not a luxury and that overall continuance of good health is the normal state of affairs not the exception, is what the Chiropractic profession has been expounding since 1895.

We all need to learn to do the things necessary to maintain health rather than wait to get sick and then go get that sickness treated. Sickness is not the enemy, it is a natural by-product of folks who don't do the right things to stay healthy. That's why we have a sign painted on our north wall that reads, Chiropractic is not for everyone, only those who want to stay well.

Therefore, I would like to tell Mr. Willett, job well done! It was a good, positive column designed only to educate people to close the barn door before the horses escape, not after.

Thanks!

Dr. James W. O'Dell

An anonymous thank you

To The Editor

I am handicapped and get meals on wheels. I don't know how many of these wonderful volunteers I can reach thru your six newspapers, but I hope it will be all of them.

They are doing such a worthy service. I hope they all know how much they are appreciated. They come just like the mailman, thru rain, sleet, and snow.

I am not going to sign my name because I hope each and every volunteer will think it was his or her person that wrote this letter of appreciation.

Bless you all!

Inkster coverage praised

To The Editor:

As a reader of the Inkster Ledger Star and an advertiser in the Associated Newspapers, I take this opportunity to openly compliment you and your staff regarding your publication's improved news coverage over the past few weeks. Not only am I impressed with the writings of Sherry Woodard, but I was especially delighted when I read the Guest Editorial by Dr. Terrel M. LeCesne, which appeared in your august 27th issue. Fresh editorials, such as that, delivered by non-staff personnel who are not obligated to the political opinions of the paper, are extremely exciting and informative.

If Dr. LeCesne's Guest Editorial is a prologue of future editions, your readers are in for some real treats. Please continue your good work.

President needs help

INKSTER — The competition has opened for the 1987-88 White House Fellowships, U.S. Rep. Sander Levin (D-Southfield) announced this week.

The White House Fellows Program offers an opportunity to outstanding young citizens to serve as special assistants to U.S. Cabinet officers, the Vice President or to members of the President's staff for one year.

In addition to regular work assignments, the fellows are personally involved in regular discussions with government leaders, business, the media and academia.

Placement in the program is open to all citizens of the United States with the exception of civilian employees of the federal government. Leadership, intellectual and professional ability are the broad criteria used in the selection of the fellows.

Application deadline for the 1987-88 fellowship year is Dec. 15, 1986. Notification of the status of an application will follow in January.

Those interested in the program can write: U.S. Office of Personnel Management, President's Commission on White House Fellowships, 712 Jackson Place, N.W., Washington, D.C. 20503.

Mail trucks get new look

WAYNE — A decision to purchase a new type of parcel delivery van for the use of the U.S. Postal Service was announced this week by Congressman William D. Ford (D-Taylor), chairman of the Committee on Post Office and Civil Service.

The new van is designed to increase cargo capacity while reducing fuel and replacement costs, Ford said.

The GM Chevrolet Division in Warren will provide the Postal Service with 3,925 two-ton capacity vans at the unit cost of $19,141.

Ford added that the new vans will be used primarily to deliver parcel post, make collections and transfer mail to major processing stations. The new vehicles will be phased into use next March.

Rouge plans discussed

WAYNE COUNTY — Members of the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments have finalized year-end plans for the Rouge Rescue project with a complete list of future meetings announced.

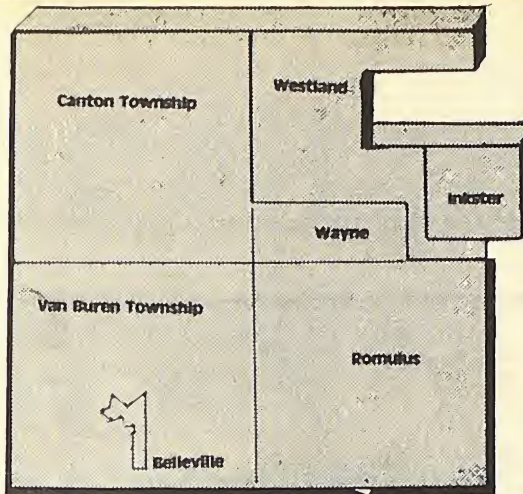

Among the major dates for SEMCOG and the Rouge cleanup are an Oct. 16 status report meeting, an Oct. 24 meeting of the log jam committee and a Nov. 14 kickoff date for the Rouge Rescue '87.

For detailed information about future cleanup efforts, call SEMCOG at 961-4266.

Volunteers are needed

WAYNE COUNTY — Volunteers are being sought by the Deaf-Blind Club of Detroit to drive members to meetings.

Interested individuals should call 272-3900 between 8:30 a.m. and 4:30 p.m.

Hines run planned

WESTLAND — A 20-mile marathon training run will be staged in the Middle Rouge Parkway at 8:30 a.m. Saturday, Sept. 27.

The run will begin at the Warrendale Picnic Area and will continue west to Haggerty Road along Edward Hines Drive, where the contestants will then return to Warrendale to complete the 20-mile course.

For safety concerns, the intersections of Ann Arbor Trail and Edward Hines Drive and Newburgh and Edward Hines Drive will be closed during the event.

To learn more about participating, call Vic Chiasson at 261-1990.

Drains stay on ballot

By VALERIE A. FOSTER
ANP Staff Writer

Another chapter in the long-fought Drain Commissioner issue came to an end recently with the ruling of Judge Charles S. Farmer, who announced that the proposal to eliminate the office of the Wayne County Drain Commissioner will stay on the ballot for the Nov. 3 general election.

This decision comes as a turning point of the longtime battle between the 15 Wayne County Commissioners over the office of Drain Commissioner. The dispute officially started back in April with a resolution proposing that the office be eliminated. The resolution, presented by then Chairman John C. Hertel (D-Harper Woods), Milton Mack (D-Wayne), Arthur M. Carter (D-Detroit), Mary E. Dumas (R-Livonia) and W. Curt Boller (D-Brownstown) charged that the office affects less than one-third of the population of Wayne County and since its functions are closely related to that of the Office of Public Services, it should be merged into that department. They are also opposed to the manner in which Youngblood managed the office.

Milton Mack

Opponents to the proposal, which include Detroit Commissioners Jackie L. Currie (D), Freddie G. Burton (D), Samuel A. Turner (D) and Clarence R. Young (D) state that the performance of the person in office is in question, not the function of the office, and that elimination would be less cost effective to taxpayers in the long run.

According to Mack, the ruling by Farmer is great news for the people who live and work in Wayne County.

If passed at the Nov. 3 election, the office will end effective Jan. 1, 1987.

delicious proof of the value of the state fruit harvest. We're finding new and more profitable ways to use the fruits of the tree and vine to provide new business and employment.

Although Michigan cherries are very popular, the state's biggest fruit crops are apples, peaches, grapes, plum-prunes and pears. Agricultural experts project that the statewide apple harvest will be 700 million pounds, while peaches will total 45 million pounds. This year, Michigan will produce about 35 thousand tons of grapes and around 10 thousand tons each of plum-prunes and pears. In 1985, we saw a record crop of the top five fruits. Except for pears, the harvest this year is expected to be somewhat smaller.

The millions of pounds of high-quality fruit that Michigan produces each year bring benefits to all of us. The growing and harvesting creates jobs on the farms and orchards. Successful agricultural enterprises generate tax dollars and put money in the farm implement and supply market. And we all appreciate the healthy freshness of Michigan grown fruit.

In order to get even more benefit from one important state crop, the state Legislature created the Michigan Grape and Wine Council. Using money raised through a tax on wine sold in the state, the council provides funds for research into the best methods of planting wine grapes and keeping them healthy through harvest. Recently, some Michigan researchers were given almost $95,000 to find ways to control disease, pest infestations and nutritional deficiencies in valuable vineyards.

The council has also been instructed by the state legislature to increase public awareness of the quality and availability of our grapes and wines. Through education and promotion, wine drinkers in this country and abroad will be hearing more about the products of Michigan vineyards. An expanding our economy.

Every year the harvest comes from our farms and orchards into our towns and out to other states and countries. We will continue to look for ways that we can profit from the richness of our land, the hard work of our farmers and the innovative planning of our business people.

thanks to his years of struggles and because he taught his son how to "do business." Don sold PAK earlier this year and negotiated a deal that did his father's teaching proud.

It was no less than a privilege to have known a man of Herb Styles' stature. He had helped me personally in ways that I can never forget. Every business has its colorful, legendary individuals, and Herb was one of ours. He was employer to some, church leader to others, Grandpa to his six grandsons, Dad to his son and daughter-in-law, and an example of the Christian spirit to everyone he met.

He was my friend and one of my father's best friends. His son and I are friends today, and our relationship is rooted in the friendship his father and my father enjoyed all those years ago. Don is much like his father, and I would hope I am like mine. We each learned from these men, and they helped make us what we are today. The friendship that took root with Herb and my dad all those years ago flourishes today with Don and I and will continue, I hope, through our sons.

I miss them both more than I can say. See you next week.

ONE PLYMOUTH TAILOR has entered the world of high technology by installing computer and laser fabric cutters. Fred Hill Haberdashers, Inc. is only the ninth store in the country to make the computer-measured, laser-cut clothing available. Measurements in the clothing are accurate to 1/1,000th of an inch, and each outfit is carefully sewn and shipped to the store within three weeks time. Sizes are placed on laser tape, and the data is transferred to a clothing manufacturer. Fred Hill is located at 336 S. Main Street, Plymouth.

A SEMINAR FOR small business will be staged from 8:15 to 3:30 p.m. Oct. 4 in the Wayne State University McGregory Memorial Conference Center. The one-day workshop for current and prospective small business owners has a $45 fee which includes a luncheon and materials. For more information, call 577-4665.

For your good health California concept comes to Canton

business profile

Chris Skone often dreamed of an effortless way to lose inches off her waistline and add firmness to her body as she toiled and sweated doing exercises and strenuous aerobics at a local spa.

Today, Skone's former dream has become a reality and a new effort of making a hit of that one-time illusion has become her new goal.

Skone is the owner of California Concept, a women's exercising facility that utilizes high technology machinery working against the force of gravity to pull, tuck and tone muscles and take off those few undesirable inches.

"Basically, I got interested in this by working out at another spa in the area," Skone said of the beginning of her Canton Township business. "I went to the library and asked about franchises. I thought these tables would work in this area with so many working women."

The first "toning tables" to be operating in Michigan, the California Concept machines are a series of six tables which individually work on specific parts of the body, according to Skone. Women lie on the surface of the tables while portions of the machine vibrate, move upward, downward, rotate or massage.

How much good can just lying on a table do the body, one might ask? According to Skone, about 10 inches of good in only 12 weeks.

"The theory behind the machines is that you pull and suck in and work the muscle as you lay there. You are sore the next day, but you don't get the throw-up feeling that you get after a regular workout.

"After 12 sessions on the machines, many women lose 10 inches on the average. But, you won't lose weight if you don't eat calories as well."

According to the spa owner, women who are overweight must also begin a calorie-reduced diet while using the machines. All first-time users will notice inch loss, she said, but true body toning can only come when the machines and a good diet go hand in hand.

Each machine is designed for an eight-minute "work-out," making the total stay at the spa about 48 minutes per day. Thus, after eight minutes each on the body rack, waist twister, thigh-calf, circulator, tummy-hip and waist trimmer most women will have received an exercising session equal to several hours at the traditional spas, Skone said.

Skone is expecting the new machines to be a big hit with the working women in the area who many times would like to exercise but who have neither the time nor the energy. Most appointments made so far, she explained, have been after 4 p.m. keeping the business open late most week nights.

And, as if the 48-minute workout weren't enough, after exercising their newly-toned body, women can slip into a tanning bed at the spa and add color to their now firmer skin for only a few dollars extra.

Skone recommends that beginning spa members receive a complete workout three times each week to start. That frequency can be reduced in time, she said, as the inches start sliding off and the desired weight is achieved.

Many area women are already jumping at the new idea of exercise, Skone continued, but are at first skeptical of any success. However, after the initial free visit, all skeptics so far have become spa members.

Membership can be paid per visit as well as through a variety of multiple visit discount packages, Skone said. Currently, the business owner is offering 12 visits to the tables and six trips to the tanning bed for $96, a price that very well could be worth every penny in lost inches, according to Skone.

Health-food craze returns to area

By RAY DAY
ANP News Editor

Despite a slight downturn during the early days of the 1980s, the health food fad is back in full force and is even picking up a small amount of steam, according to two local health food experts.

Carmen Leo and Kevin LeBlanc, owners of Ask Mr. Natural in Wayne, reported that their 8-year-old business is growing these days, with customers now buying a wide range of nutritious products.

"Business is really good right now. There was a slump for about one year. But I guess people are realizing more and more that with eating healthy, they will have good health," said Leo of his business. "When we first went into business, our biggest seller were vitamins. But, we kind of see everything selling right now - foods, juices, everything."

Leo explained that many people who try health foods make it a fad, as society would call it, instead of the habit it really should be. Good eating habits begin slowly, Leo said, with a gradual progression into more and more healthy foods.

"We tell our customers to start out slowly, one or two things at a time. We tell them to get familiar with what they are taking instead of being overwhelmed in the totally new routine," Leo said.

The store owners reported that unlike the beginning of their business eight years ago, the health food store customer today represents a wide mix of demographic data. Where before the average customer was a woman in her 30s, Leo said, the store plays host to people from high-school age to the elderly, a positive note for society, he continued.

But eating healthy doesn't mean gulping down a handful or two of vitamins or granola bars, Leo added. It is possible, he said, to over-indulge in the health foods and cause the body more harm than good.

"If you take too much of anything, it could hurt you," said Leo. "Probably the most commonly known health risk is Vitamin A. It can lead to spurs... and it turns your skin yellow."

"But according to what I read, there has not been once case yet that someone has overdosed on vitamins or received permanent side effects from them."

So what's the big deal about health foods? Simply put, the way you feel, according to Leo.

"I think most people generally feel better once they switch to health foods. First they start reducing the fatty foods that pull them down," Leo explained. "They probably feel they have more energy and feel more like doing things."

"I've been into health foods for about 10 years, and I've never felt better."

Current economy is going 'flat'

The current Federal Reserve statistical releases seem to confirm that the economy is basically flat. These statistics do not point to any one sector that is gaining strength and may lead the economy to increased activity.

ferenczi

However, with a capacity utilization of less than 80 percent, it is unlikely that any case can be made for accelerating inflation. The Fed has continued to supply more than adequate reserves to the financial markets, reducing the possibility of any cash crunch. Consumers seem to be making purchases on a "as needed basis" rather than as a protection of higher prices. Major players in the interest-sensitive markets have some confidence in the Fed's recent releases and will allow yields to move in narrow ranges. Gold and silver buyers/speculators are less than confined by recent statistics, and will continue to accumulate positions.

For this week, short-term traders will use any market strength to close out positions. There may not be a "rush" for the door, but selling will out pace buying. Intermediate-term traders and long term traders generally will be willing buyers. Their activity will be focused on secondary issues, and issues with improving fundamentals.

For this week, the activity between buyers and sellers will be evenly balanced. Some weakness may appear in large capitalized issues, while strength will be flowing to second-tier issues. This rotation will help stabilize this sensitive market, until further statistics are available.

NOTE: Retail sales rose .8 percent, producer prices up .3 percent, industrial production up .1 percent, housing starts up .4 percent, and industrial production slipped to 79 percent in August; Business inventories grew .4 percent in July and the trade deficit grows to a record $34.73 billion dollars in the second quarter.

Tasty treats
Fruit recipes plentiful as melons fall

By CHEF LARRY JANES
ANP Special Writer

"It is almost sacrilegious to do anything more with a small ripe melon than to eat them with a silver spoon," wrote Marion Harland in 1897 in her book "Breakfast, Luncheon and Tea." Although I do appreciate the exquisite tastes, I'm not really into polishing the family silver just to sit down and enjoy what is turning out to be another bumper year for the melon industry.

Last week, the folks in Howell celebrated their annual melon festival, and while walking through the streets and seeing thousands upon thousands of the sweet beauties just lying there, the aroma was almost intoxicating. Vendors were offering a sample slice of their delicious ripe melons to the passersby. It was a royal refreshment under the steamy mid-day sun.

Today, there is a greater variety of melons available in this country than anywhere else in the world. With modern refrigeration and storage techniques and the ability to get the melons to markets with great haste, melt-in-your-mouth juiciness is a checkout lane away. (Hint: carry a spoon in the glove compartment if you can't wait!)

Whether the luscious melons are topped with a scoop of sherbet, a touch of port, a squeeze of lime or sliced and served with prosciutto, I personally could enjoy one just about every day of the week. Toss them in salads and even stir them, pureed into soups and desserts, fresh melons just can't be beat.

So how did we happen to stumble on this glorious tidbit of nature? Believe it or not, the melon is an ancient fruit. The oldest European cookery book, written by the great Roman gourmand Apicius in the first century, gives his recipe for melon with honey dressing. That melon was probably the forerunner of what we call the muskmelon, a large genus whose familiar members today include cantaloupes, crenshaws, honeydews, and persians. Both the muskmelon and the watermelon are believed to have originated in Africa.

To judge the quality in all melons, look for symmetry in shape and uniformity in color. A melon that is flattened on one side may be underdeveloped - not only the shape but also the texture and flavor may be under par. Avoid any melon that feels soft and mushy when pressed, or shows bruises, dark spots, cracks or withered skin. Ripeness is the most important characteristic to look for in melons and is best revealed by the characteristic warm, flowery aroma detectable when one sniffs the skin. The blossom end of a ripe melon should yield to the touch without being mushy.

Cantaloupes are the most popular muskmelon and are available mainly from May through October. The lovely orange color and mellow taste make it a favorite for cooking and vibrant desserts.

No matter how you eat them, you just can't beat the taste of melons. Try these great recipes and let me know what you think. Bon Appetit!

WATERMELON RIND CHUTNEY
(Makes about 5 pints)

- 3 quarts chopped, pared white watermelon rind
- 2 tablespoons non-iodized salt
- 3 cups cored, chopped baking apples
- 2 cups chopped onions
- 2 tablespoons non-iodized salt
- 1 quart white vinegar
- 2 tablespoons mustard seed
- 2 teaspoons celery seed
- 3 cloves garlic
- 15 ounces golden raisins
- 2 cups packed brown sugar
- 1 cup sugar
- 1 jar (5 oz.) preserved ginger, chopped
- 1 lemon, sliced
- 1/2 cup lemon juice
- 2 teaspoon cinnamon
- 2 teaspoons ground cloves
- 2 teaspoons ground allspice
- 1 teaspoon cayenne pepper

Heat rind and 2 tablespoons salt in water to cover in a large kettle. Heat to boiling, reduce heat and simmer 10 minutes. Drain.

Combine rind, apples, onions, 2 tablespoons salt and vinegar in a large bowl. Let stand at room temperature for 3 hours. Drain, reserve rind mixture and liquid separately.

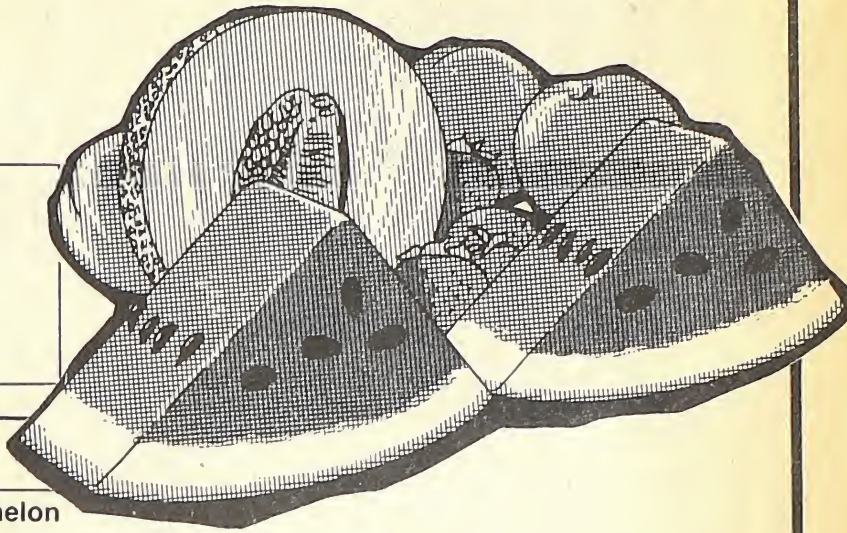

Crush mustard and celery seeds and garlic cloves. Heat reserved vinegar, crushed herb mixture and remaining ingredients except rind mixture in large kettle over medium heat, stirring frequently. Stir in reserved rind mixture, simmer stirring occasionally until syrup thickens, about 1 hour. Taste and adjust seasonings. Let stand at room temperature overnight.

Heat mixture to boiling, follow canning procedures and leave 1/4-inch headspace in jars. Process in a boiling water bath for 10 minutes.

MELON AND ORANGE SALAD
(Serves 8)

- 3 quarts honeydew melon balls
- 3/4 cup orange juice
- 1/4 cup orange flavored liqueur
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 2 teaspoons fresh grated orange peel
- fresh berries
- fresh mint sprigs

Combine all ingredients except berries and mint in serving bowl and toss gently. Refrigerate covered for about 4 hours. Garnish with berries and fresh mint. Serve at room temperature.

WINTERMELON AND HAM SOUP

- 2 lbs. winter melon, seeds removed, pared
- 6 cups chicken broth
- 1 cup fresh chopped country style ham
- fresh ground white pepper

Heat melon slice in water to cover in uncovered kettle to boiling. Reduce heat, simmer melon for 15 minutes. Drain, rinse with cold water, slice melon into julienne strips. Heat chicken broth, ham and melon strips in kettle just until hot, do not boil. Sprinkle with fresh ground white pepper.

MELON WITH RASPBERRY SAUCE
(Serves 8)

- 2 quarts cantaloupe balls
- 1/4 cup lemon juice
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 1 package (10 oz.) frozen raspberries in syrup, thawed
- 1/4 cup cream de cassis, optional
- 4 small cantaloupes, cut into halves

Combine melon balls, lemon juice and sugar in a bowl. Place thawed berries in a blender and blend till smooth. Strain. Discard seeds. Stir in cream de cassis. Combine raspberry and cantaloupe mixtures. Spoon 2 cups into each melon half. Garnish with mint or whipped cream.

PICKLED MELON RIND
(Makes 2 quarts)

- 4 tablespoons non-iodized salt
- 2 quarts water
- 2 quarts white rind, cut into cubes
- 8 cups packed brown sugar
- 1 quart water
- 2 lemons, sliced into rounds
- 4 teaspoons ground ginger

Dissolve salt into the water, soak rind in the salt solution for 8 hours or overnight. Drain rind, soak in ice water to cover for 2 hours. Drain, pat dry. Stir brown sugar into 1 quart water and place over low heat to dissolve. Add rind, cook until rind is tender but not soft, about 10 minutes. Remove rind, pack into 4 sterilized jars. Add lemon slices and ginger to syrup cook until syrup is thick and registers 222 degrees on a candy thermometer. Pour the hot syrup over the rind and follow canning procedures. Process in a boiling water bath for 10 minutes.

Practice makes this cook perfect

"I've cooked as long as I've been married but not longer," stated Dorothy Jacobs of Wayne who added she never cooked in her parents home before she married husband Charles 43 years ago.

Today after raising four children and nurturing eight grandchildren, Dorothy finds plenty of time, or rather makes time, to pursue her culinary hobby.

"I learned by doing," she said. "Nothing fancy, just American type food. Some are old English recipes and longtime family favorites such as plum pudding and mince meat pie. I especially like to bake," added Dorothy who was born and raised in Bay City, Mich.

"A number of my recipes were gathered from different churches my husband and I attended. For six years, I helped cook in a summer camp. We prepared 6-700 meals a day. That was good experience," she said.

Dorothy said the following are two of her more updated, down home and favorite recipes.

BUTTER PECAN DESSERT

- 1 package Lorna Doone cookies (rolled into crumbs)
- Mix with 1/4 pound melted margarine
- Pat into 9x13 pan
- In a separate bowl:
- Mix 2 packages instant vanilla pudding with one cup of milk
- Stir in 1 quart Butter Pecan Ice Cream
- Mix and pour over crumbs
- Spread 1 package of Cool Whip over ice cream
- Crush 2 Heath Candy Bars on topping
- Let stand overnight in refrigerator.

dorothy jacob

RITZ SALAD

- 40 Ritz Crackers
- 1 1/4 cup sugar
- 4 egg whites
- 1 cup walnuts
- Beat egg whites until frothy
- Add sugar gradually
- Fold in broken, crushed crackers and nuts
- Into a 9x13 glass pan
- Bake 15 minutes at 350 degrees
- After cooled:
- 1 large bowl of Cool Whip
- 1 can well-drained crushed pineapple
- 1 8 ounce package cream cheese
- Maraschino cherries (optional)
- Fold together and spread on cooled mixture.

That inanimate work place tells it all

By RAY DAY
ANP News Editor

When forming first impressions of people, Dorothy Shafer bypasses the usual hints of personality, dress and verbal communication skills. Instead, Shafer heads straight to the most revealing characteristic of human nature. She heads to their office.

An interior decorator for more than 20 years, Shafer said that an office and a person's work station can be very revealing, many times more revealing than any other clues.

"The office really says a lot about the person. People can decorate to express power, status, style or privacy," Shafer said. "The colors, what's on the desk, the pictures—they all say something about the person."

The wife of Martin Shafer, co-owner of the Dennis-Wayne Theater Corporation which owns and operates several local theaters including the State Theater in Wayne and the Quo

Vadis in Westland, Shafer prefers redecorating offices over homes due to the challenge and the "free hand" which lies before her in such tasks.

"For one thing, offices are quicker. In offices, I deal with the men who many times just let you have a free hand," Shafer said. "It's a little different from a woman who is decorating in her own home."

Before beginning any redecorating project, Shafer first stages a series of interviews with her client to develop a sense of personality and a feel for what she believes will convey the desirable image. Thus, she said, talks with doctors and lawyers lead her to create offices which are private and livable, while chatting with a bank president or top business executive warns her that these individuals would accept nothing less than an atmosphere of power and prestige.

"We do a lot of talking at the start. I want to figure out what kind of people they are and what kind of office they should have," Shafer explained. "The office should convey your values, your image and your personality. It should be a place where you can come back and unwind."

Shafer said that all good offices and work stations feature a few major components: proper lighting, proper colors, furniture, desk, music and decorations. Without a good balance of these features, she continued, the quiet and caring businessman may come off to his clients as being pompous and outspoken.

"Furniture is probably the most important part of any office. If its placed high, that signals power, authority. But, the desk should always be the dominate piece of furniture in the room," explained Shafer. "What's on the desk depends on the person, it depends on their nature."

The quiet, reserved type of individual may want to bury himself behind dividers, file cabinets or windows, Shafer said. This type of person likes to be removed from interaction with co-workers and opts, instead, for a working atmosphere of solitude.

On the other hand, the person who is personable, caring and lively may have pictures of family and friends scattered about, personal items on the desk top and symbols relating to personal hobbies nailed to the walls, Shafer said.

"When you are meeting people for the first time, you can start the conversation by talking about their hobbies. You can find out their hobbies by what's on the walls and in the office," said Shafer.

Some characteristics of human character in the workplace are a little less obvious, Shafer continued. Color says a lot about the person, according to the decorator, but is sometimes overlooked.

"I feel if the office is cherry, not cluttered, but bright, these people are generally happy and friendly. Those who are very orderly are probably very organized in nature. That's fine as long as the office isn't cold," said Shafer.

According to the decorator, creating an atmosphere of coldness—dull colors and few personal belongings—tends to ward off a potential client while also bringing down one's own level of personal morale.

"It's very important that you are comfortable with the office. You have to live with it," Shafer said. "You are the one affected by the office itself. Your office should work for you, not against you."

"Whether you realize it or not, you psychologically respond to your desk or office every time you walk back to it," she continued. "The desk should lift your spirits, not depress you. You should walk back to the desk with a good feeling."

That good feeling may at times be marred by the remnants of a major project or a busy day, Shafer added. But, the dread of returning to the desk should be only temporary. If not, one might want to seek another position.

"I think I can usually tell if the person is comfortable with themselves and their job just by looking at their office," said Shafer. "If people are happy with their work, if they have a nice comfortable look to their office, then they are usually very comfortable being there."

These people usually feel that they fit in, and they like their jobs."

So, the next time the appointment book indicates a date with Dorothy Shafer, look twice at the work station to see just what kind of signals that inanimate desk or family photograph might be giving off to strangers.

Personality shines through in area residents' desks

Banker is a 'fanatic'

Ray Reame, president of Wayne Bank, described himself as a fanatic in terms of the way he keeps his desk.

"I don't like anything disorganized. I guess that's just my nature," Reame said. "I'm very particular about where everything is. I'm fanatical about it."

Reame's office underwent a major renovation three years ago, a renovation that found the local bank president sitting behind a different desk. Reame's traditional desk was replaced with what was termed by his decorator as a "more functional" unit.

The new work station was a combination of the traditional desk with a circular table attached. Four clients could sit at the table while Reame remained at his desk during a conference.

But even that conference with some of the major bank clients can't change the way Reame keeps his office. Not a chance, he explained, citing his secretary who must adhere to his strict code of neatness.

Bob Dates

City worker covers all

In the basement of the Canton Township Hall is a room full of love and devotion...

Love and devotion for U of M, that is. And the man responsible for these strongly committed feelings? None other than Bob Dates, 33, Canton Department of Parks and Recreation supervisor, a man who was born and raised in Ann Arbor, is the son of two U of M graduates in engineering, spent many a pubescent afternoon working as a gopher in the U of M football-game press box or as a ball boy at the U of M basketball games and received both his undergraduate and graduate degrees at Central Michigan University.

In his office, one wall is devoted to U of M paraphernalia. Some of the posters, banners and assorted oddities were given to him by friends. Another wall is a cumulative history of his work with the recreation department. "I have almost every decorative banner or poster printed for the recreation department over the past eight years."

Manager keeps busy

"Busy" might be the best word to describe the desk of Joyce Wheeler, office manager of the Westland Chamber of Commerce.

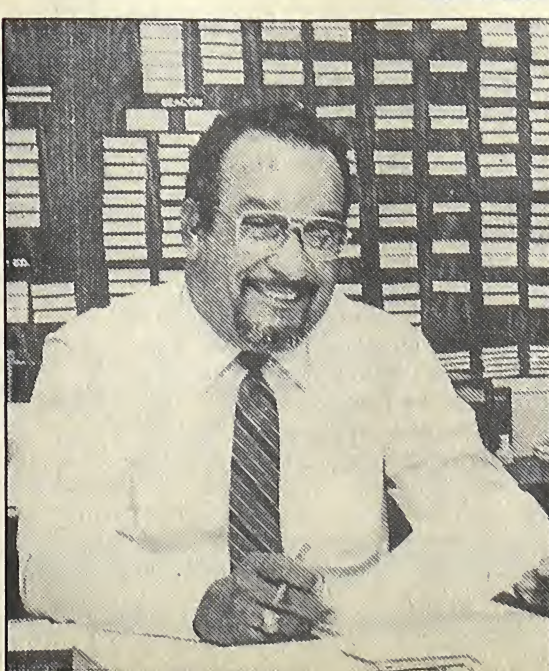

It possibly could be neater, she said, if only she had the luxury of doing just one job at a time. However, Wheeler noted, her desk is piled with materials for an upcoming newsletter, notes on the chamber-sponsored garage sale from Saturday and copy for the new business directory plus the day-to-day business of the office and arrangements for a board meeting.

Although the array of papers are neatly stacked on Wheeler's desk, she admits that "a gust of wind" could throw her office into chaos.

Her enthusiasm for her community is reflected in the slogan on her pencil holder—"Westland, City of Progress." Her disdain for tobacco, on the other hand, is indicated on a small sign which reads "Don't Smoke. I'll Croak."

Terrel LeCesne

Educator in order

Above the desk of Dr. Terrel LeCesne, assistant superintendent of Romulus Schools, hangs a photograph of himself with then President Jimmy Carter.

Although the picture is a personal favorite for LeCesne, his entire office is "cluttered with memorabilia," he admitted. His desk also offers a personal extension of the well-organized, but literally bogged down with paper work, school administrator.

"These gifts are collected from people over the years, students, parents or staff and there they sit," he said with a chuckle.

LeCesne says he spends too much time at his desk, but "it's the nature of the job."

He tries to organize his day as much as possible. "I come in early every day, look at my schedule and jot down things I must accomplish on that day. I write reminders of due dates for reports or applications. I try to pace myself. Over the years I've found this works best," he said.

Lynn Kovalih, Audry Farwell, Kristin Smith, Lori Taremba, Lori Molisic, Raini Beliger, Colleen McGee, Joyce Stoughton, and Holly Haddell.

Junior Miss contestants face finale with finesse

"Go out and enjoy life. Be yourself and have fun," Tony Rosati, president of the Wayne-Westland Junior Miss Inc., told the 23 young women who will compete in the 20th anniversary Junior Miss program this year. "They pretty much do that anyway," he added.

Orientation for the 23 local beauties took place last weekend. On Nov. 8, at Wayne Memorial Auditorium, only one winner will be selected from these contestants who represent Wayne-Westland Schools. From now until then, applicants will undergo an intensive weekly class and "do some fun things."

"The young women have the opportunity to make friends with people they normally would not be able to," Rosati explained.

"From there, they compete with 28 other school systems in the state finals staged in Marshall later this year," said Rosati.

"With our 20th anniversary this year, it's kind of special. On the day of the program, we will host a luncheon and honor the 19 former Wayne-Westland winners.

The 23 young women who have applied would be too nervous to eat on that day," he joked.

The winner of the local contest will be awarded a $1,200 cash scholarship to the college of her choice. She will also ride in parades and judge a variety of local contests. "She will be kept busy," promised Rosati.

The 23 applicants will be judged in five categories to total 100 percent; 15 percent for scholastic ability; 15 percent for a physical fitness routine; 15 percent for poise and appearance during a choreographed routine dressed in an evening gown; 20 percent for performing arts and creative talent. This is a 90-second routine chosen by the individual and 35 percent earned from an 10-minute private interview with the judges.

"This means the audience will watch 50 percent of the points scored by the contestants.

"We hope to announce our panel of judges soon. We are trying to locate the three former state winners and two first runner-ups," explained Rosati.

"Another of the special things we have planned are signs erected around the city to commemorate the past winners. The sign reads: Welcome to Westland, Home of the Wayne-Westland Junior Miss' Marie Neu, 1973, Pamela Wallace, 1977 and Natalie Kozorosky, 1981." Rosati added the signs are erected and paid for the program.

All applicants are high school seniors from the three different high schools in the Wayne-Westland district.

The winner of the Michigan Junior Miss in Marsahll will travel to Mobile, Ala., this spring and compete for the title of American Junior Miss.

"The young women have the opportunity to make friends with people they normally would not be able to."

Teaching requires 'true love'

By RAY DAY
ANP News Editor

When Jim Richendollar enters most any room, many wise souls will show some respect to the robust former coach of the Belleville High School football team.

But, when Jim Richendollar enters the room at the South Middle School in Belleville, all respectful individuals will give thanks to the man who has poured wisdom into scores of students throughout his 23-year tenure in education.

The principal at South Middle School, Richendollar holds fast to the traditional ideals of education where discipline is a must and learning goes hand in hand. But whenever praise is given to the Sumpter Township resident, Richendollar simply sits back and humbly attributes his accomplishments to some other source.

ANP: What made you go into education as a career?

RICHENDOLLAR: I've always enjoyed working with young people. Even as a 17 and 18 year old, I enjoyed working with the young people in the neighborhood teaching basketball and football.

ANP: Did you like school when you were attending?

RICHENDOLLAR: Really I did. I was fortunate enough to be the valedictorian of my college class.

ANP: Which do you like more, teaching or being an administrator?

RICHENDOLLAR: I think I would be hard put to choose between the two, because I enjoy both areas equally. I get to teach from time to time as an administrator if we are short a substitute or two. I get to work through problems with young people more often as an administrator than a teacher. On the one hand, you don't get to work with as many students, but on the other hand, you are working with people where you can actually solve a problem.

Dishing up a tasty morsel of a play are Karen Massey (left) as Doris, Dana Pressede as Sylvia, Ryan Slavin as Harry and Shannon Silye as 'Kid.' The comedy, 'Harry and Sylvia,' will be performed on Friday night at Salem High School in Canton.

Dinner theater offers tasty stage show

By JOAN MARY DYER
ANP Staff Writer

A "double feature" consisting of a comedy show plus dessert will be staged on Friday by the Plymouth Park Players at Salem High School in Canton.

The combined effort of drama teacher Gloria Logan and culinary arts instructor Carey Gary and their students will provide an evening of entertainment with the bittersweet comedy, "Harry and Sylvia," plus an array of fabulous desserts to enjoy during the production. Dessert will be served from 6:30 to 7:50 p.m. with the play scheduled to begin at 8 p.m.

The play, written by Richard Strand, tells the story of the off-stage life of Harry Shorr, a television clown known to his audience as Bingo. The play relates his problems with youthful hecklers, lost contact lenses, his ex-wife, Sylvia, and his agent, Doris Goldberg.

The cast includes Ryan Slavin as Bingo, Dana Pressede as Sylvia, Karen Massey as Doris, and Shannon Silye as "the kid." Stage manager and assistant director is Hope Buchan, construction masters are Scott Kimmins and Slavin, and painting master is Silye. Prop masters are Nancy Lee and Pressede and publicity is being handled by Kate Downes and Robin Fielman.

Following the presentation on Friday night, the players will take their show on the road, performing "Harry and Sylvia" across Michigan as well as at the International Thespian Theatre Festival in Muncie, Ind.

Tickets are available from any company member or may be reserved by telephone through Sept. 25 by calling 451-6600, extension 243 between 7 a.m. and 5 p.m. The dessert and show tickets are $5 each. Show tickets are $3 and are available only at the box office at Salem after 6 p.m. on Friday.

lems with instruction I would deal with.

ANP: What makes a good teacher?

RICHENDOLLAR: I think a good teacher is one who is genuinely in love with the learning process and who is willing to home. Parents who care for the most part. I don't think there's a particular format.

ANP: What is the parents' job?

RICHENDOLLAR: I think it's the responsibility of the parents to be aware of what's going on in the school, to be involved as they can.

on draft horses. And I raise bull-mast dogs. . . it's a mix of a bull dog and a mastiff.

ANP: What else do you do?

RICHENDOLLAR: I give Scout groups hayrides during the winter. I think I spend about 10 hours a week with the horses. I enjoy writing as well, and I've written two articles and am helping a gentlemen right now. I've begun a book, "The Belgium Horse." I have two or three chapters written right now.

Classes open at 'Y'

Openings are available in a large array of swimming, fitness and "fun" programs at the Wayne-Westland Family YMCA.

According to Program Director Mary Rose Cartwright, the "Y" is in full operation following the closing of the facility for a fall sprucing-up program. Although classes are already under way, she said, individuals may sign up and pay a pro-rated fee for the remaining sessions available.

A series of swimming classes are open to children and adults, Cartwright said, with lap swimming and open swimming hours slated. A water exercise class which meeting on Mondays and Wednesdays at 10:45 a.m. also is open to new participants.

Youngsters can advance from polliwogs and guppies up to flying fishes and sharks in the program, she said, plus learn to dive under the direction of former state championship contender, Lance Webber.

Fitness classes, which include aerobics sessions and weight lifting instruction, are open to new participants, according to Cartwright. Craft classes in crocheting, needlework, quilting and other handcrafts also are offered at the YMCA plus mini classes in lace net darning and photo album covering.

"Our Bus In Fun Club brings children into the building after school where they have snacks, group sports, crafts, games and swim lessons and then we return them to their schools by bus at 6 p.m.," Cartwright said. "Cost is $5 per session, with the second child in the family enrolled at half price."

Cartwright said the Bus In Fun Club brings children from the P.D. Graham and Madison schools on Tuesdays, the Stottlemeyer and Hamilton schools on Wednesdays, St. John's and Schweitzer schools on Thursdays and on Fridays students from two Wayne schools, Monroe and Roosevelt, participate in the program.

Additional information may be obtained by calling 721-7044 or by visiting the office at 827 South Wayne Road on weekdays between 9 a.m. and 9 p.m. or on Saturday between 9 a.m. and 3 p.m.

Canoe tours launched

Autumn canoe tours on the Huron River are slated on the 18-passenger voyageur canoe at Oakwoods Park near Flat Rock hourly between 10 a.m. and 5 p.m. Sept. 27 and 28. The fee is $1.50 per person and advance registration is required.

Information and registration are available by calling the Metroparks at 1-800-24-PARKS.

Pitch-out

Getting the blocking up front, Belleville quarterback Steve Ostrowski (10) decides to pitch to one of his running backs on this play. Ostrowski and the Tiger grid machine couldn't stop visiting Monroe Friday and lost to their Wolverine 'A' Conference rivals, 14-7. Although a much-improved club, the Tigers are still seeking their first victory for their new coach, Dave McCarney. They hope to break their 3-game losing streak this week when they take on Southgate Anderson, the newest member of the conference at Schafer High field.

Belleville out to snap losing streak

Although pleased with the over-all progress of his team, first year Belleville head football coach Dave McCarney is disappointed that the Tigers have not found their way into the winning column after three weeks.

"In general I am pleased," said McCarney after Belleville dropped a 14-7 decision to Wolverine 'A' Conference rival, Monroe, last Friday. "But, you're never happy when you lose. That's not the name of the game."

McCarney sees the problem as "the offense being inconsistent and breaking down in crucial situation."

Belleville hopes to pull out of its 3-game losing streak Friday night at Southgate Anderson (Anderson plays its home games on Schafer High's field). Anderson dropped out of the Tri-River Conference at the end of the school year and became the Wolverine's newest member.

Anderson appears to be a team that is our equal," said McCarney. "It is a team we should be able to play with, however, we just can't afford to make the mistakes we are on offense if we want to win." Anderson is coming off of a 33-28 victory over Romulus, giving them a 1-2 record.

Belleville did get some good news this week: Greg Hardmon, injured in the opening game against Westland John Glenn, may be ready for action against Anderson.

"Greg is not only an excellent running back, but also he's also our punter. His return will give us another dimension to our kicking game," said McCarney. Hardmon had sustained a hairline fracture of a rib bone.

Monroe built up a 14-0 lead, then hung on as the Tigers scored midway in the third period on J.P. Fallen's 15-yard off-tackle power play. Jeff Sykes kicked the extra point.

Quarterback Steve Ostrowski engineered a midfield drive with Fallen and Ron Griffin, who broke loose for a 24-yarder to set up the TD, as the workhorses in the series.

Belleville had an earlier opportunity to get on the scoreboard but muffed it. Pat Ringwelski took the opening kickoff and bolted up the middle before Monroe's final defender got to him at the Tiger 46. On the next play, Fallen, on an option, made it to the Monroe 26, however, three successive Tiger penalties threw them out of range.

"Mistakes like these make the differences," McCarney stressed. "You're knocking at the door, and all of a sudden it's slammed shut. We got to make sure we don't beat ourselves in the future."

Fallen led the Tiger offensive assault with 62 yards on nine tries while Ostrowski found receivers for four of 12 passes - two were intercepted - for 32 yards.

Defensively, the Tigers can thank linebacker Matt Bracken, end Ron Griffin and lineman Tony Dawson for coming up with key stops that prevented the Trojans from increasing their margin of victory.

Rockets soar

Glenn shuts out Farmington for win No. 3

By KEITH DeMOLAY
ANP Special Writer

Whew! No, that wasn't the siren going off to signal the end of a quarter. It was just the collective sigh of relief from the overflow Glenn crowd last Saturday afternoon following the Rockets' 13-0 victory over a scrappy Farmington team.

For the Rockets, it was their third straight victory of the season and their 14th consecutive regular season victory.

But it wasn't easy as the Rockets and their head coach Chuck Gordon will attest.

"It was a hard-fought game," said Gordon. "It was the way the coaches expected it to be. We're pleased to get that first victory in conference play."

Farmington gave Glenn everything they had, especially on defense when they kept Glenn's offense in check, most notably in the first half, when they stopped the Rockets repeatedly.

"Farmington's staff did a great job of getting their kids ready to play," said Gordon. They have some huge players. They did a good job against us."

Playing without tri-captain and leading ground gainer Paul Beasley because of an injured foot, the Rockets inserted junior tailback Keying Wilson into the line-up with Gary Cloud as his fullback. Running behind an offensive line anchored by seniors Brian Brown and Doug Strehl, the Rockets got to the 30-yard line a few times in the first quarter but Farmington's defense held Glenn tough.

Not until there were six minutes left in the second quarter did Glenn dent the end zone. Quarterback Steve Hawley, who threw for 96 yards on the with only a 7-0 deficit facing the Falcons, Farmington was not out of the game by any means.

But Glenn kept plugging away and refused to quit. When Farmington was forced to go to the air, Glenn's pass defense was there to meet them. In the first half, Pat Pettit got his second theft of the season and line-backer Strehl nearly had one.

North will be the best team we have played so far. They have a great tailback in Seltzer. They are also well-coached, and will be our biggest test of the season.

— Chuck Gordon
— Glenn coach

day, found receiver Mike Hammontree open on the 20-yard line. The 6-0 receiver gathered the ball and ran the rest of the way for the touchdown. Tony Svaluto added the PAT and Glenn led, 7-0.

Then Glenn's defense got real tough. The Rockets completely neutralized the Falcon running game, limiting them to only 36 yards for the game. But still,

When added up the passing stats for Farmington, they had 45 yards but one had to shake his head and say, "I can't believe it!"

Each time the Falcons completed a pass, somebody in red and white was there to greet the receiver. In the second half, Glenn got even tougher on pass defense with Hammontree grabbing his eighth interception of his career that enabled him to break Ron Giuliani's long-standing record, and Cloud iced the game with a steal at mid-field.

"The group (defensive backs) played well," said Gordon, but the entire defense has played superbly. However, our big test is coming this week."

Shortly before Clud's interception, Glenn added their second touchdown of the day late in the fourth quarter. Junior Brian Woolf entered the game and carried the ball exclusively on this series - a total of 51 yards - until he hit paydirt at the 2:19 mark. The Rockets led, 13-0 and now prepare for an old nemesis, North Farmington, as Glenn finally returns home to Kionka Field and Friday night.

"North will be the best team we have played so far. They have a great tailback in Seltzer," said Gordon. "They're always well-coached. It'll be our biggest test of the season."

The JV Rockets improved their record to 3-0 as Casey Killingbeck threw a pair of touchdown passes - one to Greg Anderson and one to Dale Yannick and Jonathon Barnett and Bryant Satterlee coming for 4 touchdowns rushing. Satterlee also amassed 181 yards on the ground, including a 61-yard touchdown scamper.

'Touchdown'

Dancing with the pigskin over his head, Belleville High's Donell Thomas scored the Tigers' first and only touchdown of game against visting Monroe Friday night. It wasn't enough as the Tigers dropped their third consecutive game, 14-0.

Romulus falls to Anderson

Romulus coach Norb Glover won't forget Southgate Anderson's Russ Ludke's fourth quarter touchdown.

Ludke's lunge into the end zone was the difference between victory and defeat, in this case a 33-28 loss for Glover's Eagles. The TD remains controversial.

"We've gone over the films of that game and that kid's (Ludke) knee hit on the three-yard line and he outstretched his arms into the end zone. That TD shouldn't have counted," Glover commented.

However, over the Romulus coach's protests, the officials let stand the six points and Anderson went on to win the game.

"I know I'm going to sound like I'm crying, but the facts back me up. It's unfortunate that the officials weren't with it on that play."

Romulus built up a 14-0 first quarter lead before it fell apart in the second period when the Eagles gave up 21 points. In that opening frame, Anthony Russell returned a punt 60-yards for a Romulus touchdown and Luther Shannon chipped in the two-point conversion.

Then, Shannon teamed up with Russell on a 40-yard touchdown pass to make it 14-0 after the point-after failed.

Anderson quarterback Scott Hendrie went to work on the Eagles defenses and before the game was over he had 10 of 24 pass completions, teaming with Joe Namath for a 25-yard strike and with Gary Jones on a 16-yarder. Ludke also turned a 43-yard run into a touchdown.

In the third quarter, the Eagles again came alive this time (See ROMULUS, page C-2)

Lincoln Park ends Wayne winning streak

By ED BISHOP
ANP Special Writer

The Wayne Memorial football express was derailed last Friday as the Zebras absorbed a 14-0 defeat at the hands of the Lincoln Park Railsplitters.

The host Lincoln Park squad took the opening kick-off and marched 78 yards into the Zebra end zone. Quarterback Joe Burke covered the last 3 yards on a sneak up the middle. With the conversion, Lincoln Park led 7-0 before the visiting Wayne team even touched the ball.

The Zebra offense had their problems against the penetrating, Parker defense. Key penalties also hurt the Wayne cause; but overall, the Railsplitter defensive strategy was on target.

The Zebra defensive forces led by Dave Suchan, Mike Hines, Leo Trayner, and reliable Jody Caruana held their own after the opening drive. The defense forced 3 Lincoln Park turnovers in the first half, but none of the opportunities could be capitalized into points.

Just before halftime, the Zebras senior signal caller, Doug Quartuccio, on a scramble, scampered 15 yards to the Parker's 28 yard line. However, a Zebra fumble was recovered by Lincoln Park and they then proceeded to march out the waning moments of the first half.

The third stanza produced a punting duel between the Parker's Mike Vitale and the Zebra's Steve Warner. Besides his superb punting, Warner, the senior co-captain, also played a strong defensive game from his linebacker position.

The fourth quarter saw the Lincoln Park contingent mount a drive from their 45 yard line that resulted in their second score of the game. Quarterback Burke hit Jeff Hanson with a 4 yard scoring strike. The converted extra point increased the Parker advantage to 14-0 with 8 minutes remaining.

The Zebras' offensive unit tried desperately to score but could not crack the tough, Railsplitter defense. Finally, with approximately two minutes remaining, Quartuccio collaborated with Tony Robertson, the shifty junior wide receiver on an apparent 69 yard scoring play. However, the play was nullified by a holding penalty and the zero remained on the Wayne portion of the scoreboard.

The Zebras still managed to march deep into Lincoln Park territory. On their best offensive play, tailback Darren Tatum was stopped 2 yards shy of the Parker end zone.

Things will not get any easier for coach Chuck Howton's forces this Friday as they prepare to meet perennial pigskin powerhouse, Dearborn Fordson. The 7:30 evening encounter with this Wolverine A foe will be the second home game of this season after two consecutive contests on the road.

The Wayne Memorial Junior Varsity team captured their third straight victory with a 58-0 trouncing of the Lincoln Park j.v. squad.

Salem buries Walled Lake

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Plymouth Salem Coach Tom Moshimer felt it was a matter of time before his previously winless Rocks exploded. And the Rocks did, taking the wrath of losing two by burying Walled Lake Central, 42-6 Friday night.

"We improved considerably," said Moshimer. "It was something we needed. A morale booster."

Salem will need that booster as the Rocks prepare to take on Livonia Stevenson for their next league test.

"Stevenson is always a well-coached team, and you have a lot of respect for them. We will have to be at our best to beat them, Moshimer said."

Salem was at its best for Central who probably didn't know what hit them. Off of their past two performances - a 49-0 shellacking at the hands of defending Wolverine 'A' Conference champ, Trenton, then lost a heartbreaker, 7-6, to neighboring Livonia Churchill, the uprising against Central came as a pleasant surprise.

The Rocks were all business against Central as they built a 35-0 halftime lead en route to their first win of the season. Six different players put Salem on the scoreboard: Quarterback Steve Holt slipped through on a one-yard sneak; Joe Jouppi recovered a blocked punt in the Central end zone and Leonard Bowe intercepted a pass and ran it for a 20-yard touchdown. Also getting in on the scoring act were Garrett Bowie, a 20-yard TD run; Doug Prater, a 5-yard run and Brian Neuhart, who dashed over the goal-line from 24-yards out.

Bowe, who led the Salem ballcarriers, accumulated 102 yards on nine carries while Neuhart had 72 for six attempts and Bowie finished with 55 in eight tries.

Franklin can't live on big D

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

At this point of the season, Livonia Franklin coach Armand Vigna hoped to be 2-1. Maybe 1-2. But definitely not 0-3.

But that's where Vigna's Patriots stand after their 14-7 fall at the hands of Farmington Harrison.

"We're disappointed that we lost," Vigna said. "I felt we played well enough to win. Again, the defense was there, but our offense couldn't move the ball at crucial times."

Harrison drew first blood as quarterback Dave Krolicki connected on a 40-yard touchdown pass to Mark Murray for a first period score. Harrison missed the point-after.

Franklin came back midway in the second period and not only tied the score on a 45-yard pass play featuring quarterback Chris Popp and tight end J.J. Swindell, but the Pats went ahead as Mike Patzch's point-after kick found its target.

Neither team threatened until Harrison got its final break, a three-yard touchdown run by Scott Bissell in the fourth quarter that proved the difference in this game.

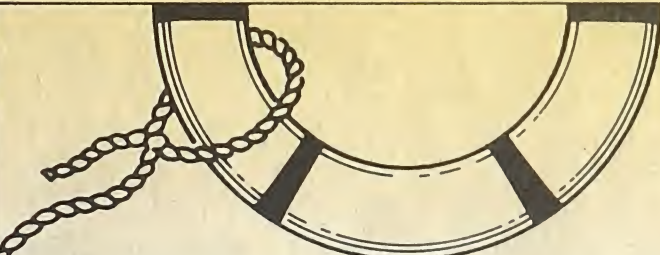

"It was a defensive battle again all the way," said Vigna. "It's tough to lose games that you know that you could win."

Vigna had to make some readjustments in his line-up due to injuries and he felt the newcomers - Tim Block, who moved into a defensive tackle slot, and Wally Brown, a defensive end, along with Wayne Everard, a tackle, did an exceptional job. Linebacker Chris Parenti, as he has in the previous two games, looked good. He was credited with five solo tackles and nine assists while teammate Mark Kerpet, a defensive back, carded seven solos and five assists including one interception.

Vigna is hoping that playing under the lights - the three previous contests were Saturday afternoon affairs - may turn the tide for the Pats. They will travel to Walled Lake Western (1-2) for their next league test, but Vigna is quick to point out that "Walled Lake has one of the finest running back in the area in Mike Hall."

Belleville wins swim opener

Capturing 10 first places, Belleville High's girls' swim team launched the 1986 season with a lopsided victory over Lincoln Park, 112-60.

The Tigers swept both relays with Karen Kotlarczyk, Gina Montie, Jennifer Owsley and Susan Duda turning in the winning time of 2:07.79. They also claimed a first in the 400-yard freestyle with Jennifer Powell, Shawn Strine, Tracy McCormick and Melanie Merritt who were clocked in 4:29.22.

Kotlarczyk also chipped in a first for the 50-yard freestyle (26.68) and touched in first in the 100-yard backstroke (1:08.38) with teammate Wendy Giza posting the third best time in the event (1:10.68).

Melanie Merritt and Rachel Duda were 1-2 in the 200-yard freestyle with 2:11.96 and 2:29.15, respectively, and Powell and Duda were also first and third for the 200-yard individual medley.

Belleville diver Cheryl Bird settled for a third place with a total of 171.50 points.

Powell and Owsley led the 100-yard butterflys with another 1-2 finish. They were clocked in 1:15.59 and 1:15.88, respectively. Belleville dominated the 100-yard freestyle as they took first, second and third with Wendy Giza (1:01.66), Gina Montie (1:03.11) and McCormick (1:04.99) and Merritt came back to win the 500-yard freestyle (5:59.24), while Rachel Snurr placed third.

In the 100-yard breaststroke, Duda came away with top honors (1:21.30), while Kristan Howard finished third with a 1:25.21.

Liedel runs 3rd at Schoolcraft

While Farmington runners dominated both the boys and girls' divisions of the 1986 Schoolcraft College Invitational Cross Country meet on Saturday, Westland John Glenn's Dan Liedel muscled his way into the elite all-tournament team.

Liedel covered the 5,000 meter terrain in the third best time of the day, hitting the tape in 16:39, and trailing only invitational champ, Chris Inch of Farmington, and John Frisbie of Northville across the finish line.

Inch's winning time was posted at 16:12, while Frisbie was clocked in 16:27.

Unfortunately, Liedel's supporting cast didn't come through. Glenn's next runner, Cordell Crobsy, finished 52nd.

Teamwise, the Westlanders finished 12th in both the boys and girls' divisions. Leading the Rocket girls were Ginger Rowland who crossed the finish line 14th in 21:45, while teammate Pauline Eldridge was 25th in 22.15.

Earlier in the week, Coach Dick Gordon's runners lost to the conference favorites, Farmington, 19-40, while the girls also were defeated 18-36.

Wayne also handed its natural rival, Glenn, a 20-35 setback, but forfeited to the Rockets in the girls' race.

"We're improving," said Gordon, "but we have a long way to go."

Eagles are 5-0

Breezing past Dundee 51-12 and rallying to a 51-41 victory over Willow Run, Coach Ron Bayes and the Romulus Eagles have stretched their basketball winning streak to five games.

Brenda Lidell tossed in 20 points and collected six assists while Laurie Berlinn chipped in 10 points and had eight rebounds in the Romulus triumph over Dundee who trailed at halftime 21-12.

Churchill rides crest of 3-game winning streak

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

After shutting out a highly-regarded Northville team 20-0 last Friday, Livonia Churchill and Coach Herb Osterland will travel to Plymouth Canton in quest for their fourth consecutive victory of the 1986 campaign.

Osterland says that the Canton confrontation will be a hard-fought one because "Canton is a very-much improved team. You got to have respect from them...they are 2-1 and lost to Walled Lake Western, 14-7." Canton, under first year coach Bob Khoenle, started the season with a 7-6 victory over Willow Run, then trounced Walled Lake Central, 27-0, before falling to Western last week.

Churchill's victories include a 8-0 thriller over Sterling Heights in the season opener, and a 7-6 cliffhanger over Salem.

The Chargers' offense came alive against Northville as it grinded out 261 yards, 32 in the air. Spearheading the assault was senior fullback Jim Naif who accounted for two touchdowns and 126 yards in 16 attempts.

Scoreless the first quarter, Churchill broke the deadlock with a 13-point second period as quarterback John Tracy connected on a 15-yard touchdown pass to wide receiver Dave Lapsham. The Chargers failed to capitalize on the extra point.

Northville could take partial blame for that initial Churchill score as the Mustangs gambled - and lost - electing to go for it on a fourth-down and inches on their own 40.

Naif provided the Chargers with an insurance TD before the half as he polished off a midfield sustained drive with a one-yard touchdown plunge. Tim Jackson booted the extra point.

Churchill scored its final

Huron finds winless Flat Rock in path

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Although Flat Rock comes to New Boston Huron Friday night without a victory to its credit, Huron's Tom Labeau doesn't see their conference rivals as "easy pickings."

"Flat Rock is getting better each week," Labeau noted,

"and they played Riverview and Grosse Ile, two of the league's title contenders real tough." Huron remains in the hunt for its first league victory of the season and if not Flat Rock, then the obvious question is 'who?' "We're not looking beyond Flat Rock. That's our assignment this week, but we must play an improved game on defense. We didn't have a good defensive game at Riverview last week."

Consequently the Chiefs sustained their second straight conference setback at the hands of the Pirates, 28-7.

Riverview built up a 21-0 lead before Huron scored what proved to be its only TD of the game. That came with 7:19 left

Mistakes doom Vikings

Robichaud roars past Ecorse in SAC grid opener, 38-0

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

While mistakes continue to plague winless Inkster, Dearborn Heights Robichaud has apparently gotten over its first-game errors and has roared back to win impressively.

After losing to Detroit Country Day 29-0 in their opener, Coach Bob Yauck and his Bulldogs shut out Richmond 20-0 and launched the Suburban Athletic Conference campaign with a 38-0 victory over Ecorse during the past two weeks.

In the meantime, Inkster dropped its third consecutive contest of the season, a 8-0 thriller to Willow Run. That SAC defeat comes in the wake of heart-breaking setbacks against River Rouge, a 3 overtime, 6-0 defeat, and a last-second, 20-14, loss to Battle Creek Penfield in the season debut.

Inkster can rest this week as Coach A.C. James and the Vikings have "an open date" and the rest comes at a crucial time.

"It's a good thing we are off this week," James said. "It will buy us some time to heal our wounds. Also, we had some injuries to key personnel and hopefully they will be ready for our next game."

However, that 'next game' is Friday, Oct. 3, and it's against none other than the undefeated SAC champ, Highland Park.

"They have the talent and the power again this year," James noted. "Needless to say we are going to have our hands full."

The difference in the Willow Run and Inkster game was Kevin Asher's return of a Viking fumble for a 25-yard touchdown in the third quarter.

But, Inkster had its opportunities. Lorenzo Terrell returned the opening kick-off 90-yards into the end zone only to see the six-pointer erased because of a clipping penalty.

The Viking defense, spearheaded by Angelo Taylor, at monster, and Andre Davis, again kept Inkster in the game.

Robichaud will try to make it 2-0 in the SAC on Friday at the expense of Oak Park, the conference's newest member. The two rivals clash at 3:30 p.m. at Oak Park, with the Parkers carrying a 1-2 record up against the Bulldogs who are 2-1.

"They (Oak Park) are a much improved football team," Yauck said. "They have a pair of outstanding running backs and obviously we are going to have to contain them."

Ecorse was no match for the Bulldogs who scored on Carl Brown's 17-yard sprint in the first period - Brown also added the two-point conversion - and never looked back. The Bulldogs built their lead to 24-0 at halftime with Eric Thomas firing a 28-yard TD pass to Clint McDaniels and Brown again going into for the conversion. McDaniels came back with a 65-yard punt return late in the quarter for the Bulldogs' third score. Brown again converted.

Gordon McDuffie got

Robichaud's only third quarter TD on a nine-yard run while Sean Jones went in from one-yard out in the fourth quarter for the Bulldogs' final tally. McDuffie was credited with the conversion.

Brown led Robichaud's ball-carriers with 66 yards in nine attempts and McDuffie picked up 41 yards in five tries.

The Bulldogs' defense, which hasn't given up a point for the last eight quarters, was led by Don Mandell, who had five solo tackles, and Derick Gibson, who had three unassisted and four assists.

Player of the Week

LEWIS DAVIS

Making the transition from Cherry Hill where he excelled in football and track, 6-0, 180-pound senior Lou Davis has been the spark plug for an improved Wayne Memorial football team. Davis has been instrumental in leading Coach Chuck Howton's Zebras to a 2-1 record.

WINNER—1986 NATIONAL DESIGN AWARD—VIXEN 21

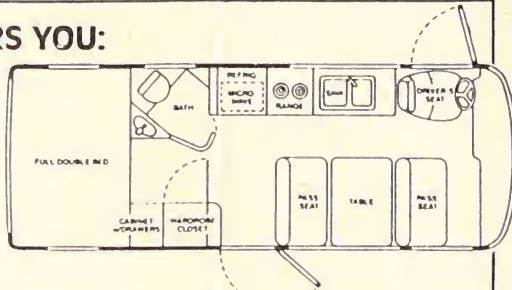

Getaway Vehicle

When you get the overwhelming urge to drop everything and disappear for a while, make the perfect getaway in an extraordinary new vehicle called Vixen 21 ... the only motorhome that lets you enjoy the economy of an amazing 30 mpg* and the fun of BMW turbo-diesel performance.

JUST LOOK AT WHAT VIXEN 21 OFFERS YOU:

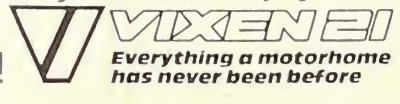

- An incredible 30 miles per gallon with the BMW turbo-diesel engine.
- Lively performance.
- A sleek 76" height and 21" length that lets you keep Vixen 21 in your garage.
- All the comforts of home ...
 - Gourmet galley equipped
 - with range, sink and 4-cubic foot refrigerator.
 - Permanent, full-sized double bed and convertible second bed.
 - Uniquely-designed bathroom/shower combination.
 - Lots of storage space.
 - Automatic-operating roof that increases interior headroom to 6'6" ... and more.

*Actual mileage of 30.73 based on Transportation Research Center testing, performed at 55 miles per hour. Copies of test reports available upon request. Your mileage may vary.

$34,700

So disappear for a while. With Vixen 21, you can enjoy an uninterrupted, do-as-you-please getaway ... anytime you get the notion!
